

PENN'S ELEVEN FIT AS FIREFLE FOR MICHIGAN GAME—BASKETBALL SPORT BOOMING

GRIDIRON NEWS
CLEANED FROM MANY SOURCES

Penn's Football Eleven Is Confident of Springing a Big Surprise Against Michigan.

By EDWARD R. BUSHNELL
Probably no Pennsylvania football team ever went forth to meet Michigan about whose capabilities the coaches themselves knew so little. There is no common standard by which to compare the two eleven's this year. Yet Michigan is confident, largely because of the team's good early season record and its splendid game against Harvard, while Pennsylvania is dangerously determined. One of the Quaker coaches remarked yesterday to the writer:

"For the life of me I can't tell how good this Pennsylvania team really is. But I do know that in fighting spirit and football ability the team is now 50 per cent stronger than it was three weeks ago when we beat the Navy. I expect to find Michigan strong, but I believe that if our boys play with the sort of spirit they are exhibiting we have an even chance to win."

There is no doubt that right now the Pennsylvania team is a dangerous combination, not so much because of its strength as because of its spirit. The Quakers haven't had any excuse to become overconfident this year. They know they haven't been playing good football for the most part, and that if they don't redeem themselves in this game they are not likely to make a creditable stand all season. If they beat Michigan they will have hopes of beating Dartmouth, and although Cornell men won't admit it, the chances are that a victory over Dartmouth will result in a victory over Cornell.

Princeton coaches are beginning to see a silver lining to that 7-7 tie score with the Williams game. To the last man they are glad that slump didn't occur against Harvard. They have had their warning, and all this week they have been drilling with the greatest earnestness.

The statistics of the "Big Six" were published in the columns of Monday. Herewith are given the same results for the middle Western teams, nine in number, and the minor colleges of the East, 20 in number.

Table with columns: Team, Games Won, Lost, Tied, Pts., Opp. Pts.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 5.—Brennan work is better for the gridiron today. The great part of the team will be in the line. The Harvard Stadium on Friday afternoon, the team will have the greatest victory of the year. The team will be in the line. The Harvard Stadium on Friday afternoon, the team will have the greatest victory of the year.

SWARTHMORE, Pa., Nov. 5.—The hardest work of the week was given the Swarthmore team in the game with the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday. The team will have the greatest victory of the year.

HAVERFORD, Pa., Nov. 5.—The variety held another long practice with Villanova College yesterday afternoon on Walton Field. The team will have the greatest victory of the year.

SOUTH BETHLEHEM, Pa., Nov. 5.—Coach Kelly had the team on the field at 2:30 yesterday afternoon, and drove it through one of the longest practices of the year.

CARLETON, Pa., Nov. 5.—The Carleton Indian football players realize that they may expect a difficult game with the Holy Cross at Manchester, N. H., on Saturday, and Coach Warner is conserving the energies of his team as much as possible in the daily practice here.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Nov. 5.—Recognizing that the West Point backs, the Navy coaches are making every effort to develop an attack which will outwit their rivals on the gridiron.

RAETON, Pa., Nov. 5.—Three more of the Lafayette team are out of the game on account of sickness. Kennedy went to his home with a severe cold, and the team will have a difficult game with the University of Pennsylvania on Saturday.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Nov. 5.—Harvard had its last hard scrimmage yesterday afternoon for Saturday's football game with Princeton. The team will have the greatest victory of the year.

POINTS SCORED TO DATE
Trenton, 25; opponents, 22.
Camden, 18; opponents, 15.

The De Neri five of the Eastern Basketball League, will go to Kensington tonight to play Jasper in the third game of the 1914 series. The Jewels will enter the contest against the Musical Funderers with the same line-up that met defeat at the hands of Trenton on the opening night.

At a whirlwind finish the Camden five left Trenton for tonight in the Eastern Basketball League by defeating the Reading quintet last night on the home floor 22 to 20. The game, summarized, follows:

Steele, the flashy forward of the Shetters, kept Morris, the guard of the Pretzels, on the run. He registered two field goals in the first half and another in the second half.

"Andy" Sears is going out for a record again this year. Twenty out of 25 fouls is not bad for a first game.

EXPECT FAST TIME IN SCRATCH MARATHON
Philopatrian Club's Run Will Draw
Big Entry List.

Entries for the 7 1/2-mile scratch marathon run of the Philopatrian Club, on Saturday, November 14, close positively on Saturday, November 7, with J. F. O'Donnell, Philopatrian Club, 141 Arch street.

Judging from the entry list his run will be one of the most notable in years. Almost every club and college crack has entered this race, and as the entire course is well paved fast time is expected to be made.

CHARLES CORY
WILL HELP PENN
IN TRACK MEETS

Freshman From Chicago
Destined to Be Future Star.
Will Run Under Meadowbrook Colors This Winter.

Penn has many wonderful freshmen this year, but Charles B. Cory, the former University High School (Chicago) track star, entered the Red and Blue with a record which bids fair for future Pennsylvania conquests. He is the present interscholastic world's record holder in the 220-yard low hurdle event, having covered the distance over the timbers in 24.2 seconds. For 13 years the world's interscholastic record stood intact, until Cory came along last May a year ago and shattered it in the University of Michigan interscholastic meet.

He also holds the Central Association Amateur Athletic Union record of 24.5 seconds. He won the national Amateur Athletic Union championship at Chicago, and looked up as an Olympic star when he beat Fred Kelly, the world's champion, two years ago. Cory originally claimed Boston as his home. He comes of a family of athletes, his father having attended Harvard, where he was a member of the Crimson crew. Philadelphians will see the Penn freshman in action this winter, for he will run with the "Red" Meredith and other Red and Blue stars in the indoor meets under the colors of the Meadowbrook Club.

WEST BRANCH HAS NATATORIUM MEET
PLANNED TONIGHT

First of Series of Bi-monthly
Swimming Contests Is to Be Held in Fifty-second Street Pool.

West Branch, Y. M. C. A. swimmers will inaugurate the 1914 season of sport tonight in the 53d street natatorium, when the first of the bi-monthly meets is held. Physical Director Owen V. Davis has announced the program as follows: Sixty-yard novice swim; 100 and 200 yard swims for open competition; a plunge for distance and a fancy-diving contest.

Coach Anthony, the University of Pennsylvania expert, will be in charge of tonight's affair.

A point system will be in vogue in these contests, and the athletes who pile up the greatest total at the end of the year will receive handsome awards. Cups and medals are offered.

Handicapper "Pete" Carney, of the Middle Atlantic Association of the Amateur Athletic Union, has willingly agreed to do all he can to foster the "all-for-glory" street running idea, and goes on record by saying that he will handicap the runs for local associations gratis. If the entries are given him the day before the race, "Pete" also desires to convey the news that the runs must be sanctioned.

A blanket permit will be granted by the Middle Atlantic Association for such contests to any club which is a member of the Amateur Athletic Union. A sanction is not needed in a closed run to club members, but is required where more than one group of athletes takes place.

The West Branch officials have secured a sanction for the run scheduled tomorrow night.

Tomorrow night the second weekly "all-for-glory" handicap 3-mile street run will be held from the West Branch Y. M. C. A. The first event of his kind held in Philadelphia last Friday was most successful. "Joe" Schwartz, running from south, won the initial trial. Liberal handicaps will be given to the novices. All athletes are invited.

PERSONAL TOUCHES
IN SPORT

A REAL BASEBALL POEM

I'm thinking of the old days,
And of games that I saw,
And of players who then thought marvels,
And of us who then were boys,
And thinking also of expressions which were familiar in that age,
Like "Anson cleared the sacks today,"
Which would head the sports page,
Or, "The Birds put up a scrappy game,
But bustled about them out,"
Or "How 'Mer' to the clubhouse went
Because of Big Dot's clout,
And, "The Big Four had on their battling clothes,"
And how Buck Ewing wound up the game with a "Howdy to you,"
Then on the field new stars appeared,
Likewise expressions used,
As, "Matty to the rescue went,"
And, "The game was clinched by a double play,
From Tinker to Evers to Chance,"
Or, "Jack Sheridan stole a base,"
"Cobb stole home with the winning run,"
And, "Johnson strikes out,"
But the National is again,"
But the phrase that seems destined to linger
"Longer than any 'I've known,"
"Collins hit the game on a single And Baker tripled him home." R. J. C.

Even Bill Klem
Might Hesitate

The task of the football referee is hard, the work of the baseball umpire is exacting, but picture the plight of three Harvard crew men who accepted an invitation to umpire the game between the two teams in the middleweight set of the Varsity.

In other years the feminine crews have matched their speed, and the task of picking a winner was easy enough, but this autumn speed was thrown over in favor of grace.

Each crew in turn rowed past the judges fast or slow as it pleased, and to the three young men from Harvard fell the task of saying which sight was the best. Haven, Myer and Brown were the heroes from Harvard, and they selected the crew of the juniors, another favorite, to decide solely on form.

"LEW" STINGER TO CLASH WITH "AL"
NASH TONIGHT

Other Good Bouts Scheduled by "Muggsy" Taylor at Broadway A. C.—Boxing Gossip.

Tonight will be a big one down town. The show arranged by Manager "Muggsy" Taylor for his old Broadway A. C. has all the right men in the southern section talking about it. Every class is represented on the all-star program and plenty of action is assured.

"Al" Nash and "Lew" Stinger (wtd-up), "Young" O'Brien and "Andy" Mitchell (semi-wtd-up), "Freddy" Corbett and "Jimmy" Morrow, "Ray" Hamilton and "Eddie" Mullen, "Johnny" Russell and "Billy" London.

A pupils preliminary bill has also been arranged by Manager Taylor. In the bantamweight scrap Young O'Brien, that sensational midget from Gray's Ferry, will oppose "Andy" Mitchell, ex-amateur champion.

Lovers of amateur bouts will have a chance to see a number of the best "Freddy" Corbett, of Southwark, and "Jimmy" Morrow, also of Southwark; Ray Hamilton, of Gray's Ferry, will mingle with "Eddie" Mullen, of Oakview, in the welterweight encounter, while "Young" O'Brien, of Southwark, will take on "Billy" London, of the U. S. S. Cordus, in the middleweight set.

The ten-round contest between Lightweight Champion "Freddy" Welsh and "Al" Wolgast, which was held at Madison Square Garden, New York city, on Monday night, was a great success. The crowd was estimated at 10,000, and the gate receipts were $100,000.

The "White Hope" industry is seriously near bankruptcy, having received an awful blow when the featherweight "Sam" Langford put the "left" under "Dunk" Smith at Boston one night last week. "Sam" Langford is now two left in the heavy division, "Smith" will and Carl Morris.

"Jimmy" Dougherty is loud in his praise of "Jimmy" Gibbons, who recently defeated Dougherty's champion, "Mickey" Maxwell, while "Jimmy" Gibbons, of the county, was defeated by "Jimmy" Gibbons, of the county, while "Jimmy" Gibbons, of the county, was defeated by "Jimmy" Gibbons, of the county.

IMPROVEMENTS
ON GOLF LINKS
AT FRANKFORD

Few Tournaments Will Be Held This Month—Lakewood Will Hold Two Interesting Meetings.

Several improvements will be made on the course of the Frankford Country Club during the winter. At present many of the fairways on the nine-hole links are parallel, and while the improvements will not do away with this entirely, it will be greatly minimized.

The month of November is devoid of tournaments, with the exception of the two events at Lakewood and club competitions. The winter season officially opens at Frankford on December 2 with a four-day tournament, followed by the annual holiday week tournament on the 10th and 11th of the month.

Two hundred members with their friends attended a bal masque at the Bon Air Country Club during the winter. The affair was a success, and the arrangements were in the capable hands of Mrs. Isanti and William Furber.
